VIKING IN A VINTR VUNDERLANDT

(as butchered by S.o.t.S.)

Over the ground lies a mantel of white.
The sparks from a fire fly up thru the night.
All folk are thrillin' in spite of the shill in the weather.

War knows no season. War knows no clime.
Fighting can break out any old time.
Here in the open we're walkin' and hopin' together.

CHORUS: Slay knells ring, are you list'nin'.
In the lane swords are glist'nin'.
A beautiful sight, we're happy tonight,
Vikin' in a Vintr Vunderlandt.

Gone away is the bard's rhyme.
Here to stay is the axe time.
We'll sing a war song, as we hack along,
Vikin' in a Vintr Vunderlandt.

In the village we can burn a house down,
then go after everyone in town.
They'll say 'Are you finished', we'll say 'No, man',
and then you should just see their faces frown.

Later on we'll conspire, as we dream by the fire,
of plunder we gained and our future raids,
Vikin' in a Vintr Vunderlandt.

CHORUS

In the country we'll seek shiny metal,
taking anything that's not tied down.
We'll have fun with all the stuffy farmers,
when we chase them up the hills and downs.

When war calls, ain't it thrillin'?
You can do a lot of killin'.
We'll frolic and play, the Nor-vee-gian way,
Vikin' in a Vintr Vunderlandt.

VIKING VINTR VUNDERLANDT FOUR

The Fourth Annual Viking Vintr Vunderlandt will be held in Dragonsspine on November 12th, A.S. XXIII. The sites will be the same as last year -- Black Forest El Paso County Park/Black Forest Community Church.

The day's events will be as in the past -- the BIG Game of three teams and a 'sheep', somewhat akin to other peaceful sports as rugby, soccer and a melee. The losing team wins custody of a wonderful (in the old sense) traveling trophy for a year. We will also have some kind of viking games as spear tossing, hammer throwing and other events of skill. DRESS WARMLY! Change to your party clothes at the indoor site.

As this year also commemorates the 10th Birthday of the Barony of Dragonsspine -- our first DECADE anniversary -- we are holding a DECADEnt revel. This is NOT a bawdy revel, but rather, a challenge to see just how decadent the vikings could really be. It is a time of silken garb, furs and brocades. What could the vikings come up with in the way of apparel after they brought their booty home? There will be a bardic where period and filk performances will be equally appreciated. Baroness Miranda will be featuring a competition of finger foods, where DECADEnce will also be considered -- such as marzipan stuffed dates -- a 'Pampered Hamper' munchies contest. We request that entries be treated tastefully -- this is NOT the infamous DECADENCE party, but a DECADEnt celebration of a 10th year as a barony.

There will be the usual luncheon sideboard of 'creative' Scandinavian dishes. The evening meal is a Fortune Kettle -- if you do not bring something to share, we'll all be HUNGRY. There will be a dessert sideboard from the Pampered Hamper competition. Please enter.

NOTE OF IMPORT! Site fee is $1.00 and the luncheon side board is $4.00 IF RESERVATIONS ARE RECEIVED BEFORE OCTOBER 20TH. This will increase to $6.00 between October 20th and November 5th. Anyone wanting to eat at the lunch sideboard, and who has not reserved by November 5th had better be on good terms with the Autocrat. Grovelling may not help. Due to the nature of the food and the preparation required, it will be difficult to accommodate on-the-site additional feasters because we will not buy supplies expecting a large turnout this year!

War Report

The Middle Kingdom won this year's battle of the Pennsic War by a score of five to two. The East won its two points in the belted champions melee and in the Woods Battle. The Middle and her allies won all the other warpoints: Belted Champions Melee, Queens Champion Melee, Bridge Battle and Archery Shoots. The EastRealm was allied with the Tuchux and the Kingdom of Trimaris. The Middle was allied with the Dark Horde (Moritu and Classic, led by Duke Andrew of SeldomRest) and the rest of the Known World.

Twenty-one monarchs were at the Saturday War Court. The Middle created three Laurels (Alicia von Hawken, Aiden el Theodore, Priscilla the Hun and Ranthulfir Asperlundr), two Pelicans (Merlune de Lunecorne and Sir Logos von Schnecke) and one knight: Comar gir Mirand. In addition, the MidRealm section of Canada was proclaimed as the Crown Principality of Ealdormere. A Crown Principality has no Coronet Tourney; the Prince is the Prince of the Kingdom to which the Principality belongs.

At the request of Duke Talymar, the Eislin Guards were disbanded, and the Queens Guards were reformed. He asked that no other unit take the name of his late wife.

The War was the largest ever. The final reported count was 5,359 persons. Round aluminum dog-tags--surprinted with PENNSIC XVII and a number, indicating the bearer's order of arrival on site--were given out to the first 5,000 persons on site. After this, some attendees were given hospital identification tags and, when they were gone, mere receipts. The tags had to be displayed whenever an attendee re-entered the site.

The policy of reserving space for latecomers had three results: the first was that persons arrived as early as June (the first person on site was Aed the Bard at the end f June; and 24 persons were on site by the end of July); the second was that so many enormous areas of unoccupied land had been claimed that, by two weeks before the war, all large areas of camping space in the main camp had effectively been reserved, forcing latecomers (those coming only a week or so early) to camp on the top of a hill, a mile or so from the main camp; the third was that everyone (or at least those on top of the hill) agreed that there had to be a better way of running things.

On Saturday night, the King of Ansteorra proclaimed the hilltop to be Mount Eislinn, Heaven's Door; to those forced to camp on the hill, though, it will remain Mount Saint Helengone.

The autocrat arrived on site late and found that someone had taken his preferred camping space. He therefore instituted a bumping policy, where a person with a lower tag number can bump a person with a higher tag number from his camping site. The rumor went that one poor gentle set up his camp and was bumped on four separate occasions.

A Pee-Wee Herman shoot was organized for the archers. A 17-inch Pee-Wee Herman doll was carried around camp and accused of crimes against humanities. A trial by ordeal was ordered, in which a series of archers were to shoot at the doll; if the doll was hit, it would be adjudged "guilty." Archers were to shoot until they hit the doll. One of the first arrows hit the doll in the crotch, but bounced off; the archer who finally struck the "killing" blow was given the choice of burning the doll or wearing the head on his belt for a year; the "victor" chose both. A full series of photographs were taken of the proceedings, and copies will be sent to Pee-Wee Herman (noting, "Wish You Were Here") and to David Letterman.

The shoot was originally designed as a money-making event, with each archer paying a quarter for the privilege of shooting at Pee-Wee, but an Archery Marshal forbade this. Plans are currently being made to market posters of the impaled doll for next year's shoot. A full account of the shoot was given to THE PENNSICDAILIE TIDINGS, who refused to publish it since it was "in bad taste"

Duke Cariadoc set up his "Enchanted Ground" campsite at the top of the hill to get away from everyone. Imagine his feelings when the Barony of Wurm Wald moved in next door. On Saturday night, Wurm Wald played host to a refugee from the Enchanted Ground, who wanted to share our fire (apparently matches were not allowed in the Enchanted Ground).

Ritter Aerdigwidder von Zauberberg told the story of being sent out with his squire to scout for the Eastern Army. While walking in the midst of a group of fighters on one of the causeways, his squire noted that there were, indeed, surrounded by the Eastern Army. Keeping his head, Aerdigwidder first looked for a spot to leave the causeway; finding none, he and his squire turned around and marched away, through the Eastern Army. Not a single Eastern fighter noticed that they were part of the MidRealm army.

On Saturday, while loading their car at the Barn, Baroness Wurm Wald put her husband's coronet on top of the car but neglected to tell him this before he returned to the parking lot. When its absence was discovered, Lord de Folo went to the lost and found, where the first thing he saw was one of the attendants was wearing the very coronet. Turning to another attendant, Lord de Folo asked, "Is the Baron of Wurm Wald here?" The irate attendant snarled, "Why would he be here?" "Because that gentle is wearing my coronet," replied the Baron. The culprit looked up and explained, "I was the only on it ft."

A Wurm Wald Baronial Court was held at the Swimming Hole on Saturday afternoon after the Woods Battle. Only six Wurm Walders showed up; in lieu of any other Baronial Business, court was called and all members of the Barony present at the War but not at the court were declared "poots."

An Exclusive Report by Lady Ghita Alessia and Ulrich der Pfielmachen:

Early Thursday morning on Mount Saint Helengone, the quiet conversation in the encampment of the Barony of Wurm Wald was shattered by the screams of what appeared to be a Tuchux warrior. Bounding out of the darkness, he surpried the group so much that Lord Steffen von Urvelt spilled hs beer.

After making like a banshee for ashort period of time, the Tuchux planted a black arrow at Lord Ulrich der Pfielmachen's feet, dropped a regally gilded bottle of booze and stole into the night. The bewildered band found a note which had been wrapped around the arrow and which was a declaration of alliance to the East Kingdom, directed at His Highness Randall, who was camped farther up the hill.

The members of the Baronial encampment thought long and hard to decide a tactful and diplomatic resolution to this situaion. The next day, the arrow, note and booze were delivered to Prince Randall, in return for which he publicly thanked Lord Steffen, House Euphoria and the Barony of Wurm Wald at MidRealm Court on Friday night. That was the diplomatic part. The tactful part was reporting this incident in all its glory to THE PENNSIC DAILIE TIDINGS and THE WURM WALDER.
